I received your message about restoration at this location in the NF. My wife and I are looking for a campgrounds host position and would love to help rebuild and establish new marsh and dune growth. I feel the the resources are available for these improvements.

Many people are using regenerative farming techniques this basically allows new plants a healthy ecosystem to flourish without having constant maintenance. It requires mulching the areas to be planted and then removing invasive species. It's very important that we get these areas planted and prepared for the next major storm.
