Comments: I believe that wild horses and burros should not be rounded up and left alone on public lands. There are very few mustangs left. There are more mustangs and burros on + in government facilities.

It cost the taxpayers millions of dollars every year to round them up by helicopter. Which should be stopped. It has done more harm than good. The helicopter roundup has actually killed them + injured them. They have ran them to death and the horses have died of hoof slough. Which is running their hoofs down to the quick + below.

There are very few mustangs left in this desert. A few burros that I've seen. I say that your count of mustangs is probably too high. And that the vegetation + water has sustained them thus far and will in the future. So just leave them be. I personally would rather see them on public lands than dead in a government holding pen or in a slaughter house.

Comments: Please add signs that state "$500⁰⁰ fine for feeding horses + burros." it - just like the ones in Red Rock Canyon. Also, please have rangers frequent the area on weekends to ticket the people feeding horses. It happens frequently on the weekends.
