Cattle have been grazing F.S. land for a hundred years, and it seems to us that the F.S. has done a great job of managing the forest.

rotting one pasture rest every year. They monitor our grazing, making sure that we don't overgraze, so the land will thrive the next yr and every yr after that.

Why does the F.S. listen to the environmentalist, that just assume that grazing is harmful to the land, without having any management skills or records dating back a hundred yrs like the F.S. has. The American rancher feeds the people of the U.S. and other countries as well, the ranchers have rules and regulations to follow that keeps our F.S. grazing lands green and land 91% after yr. If the Rancher loses his grazing rights the cost to feed the American family will go through the roof.

~~Don~~ Agriculture is vital to America, these extreme environmentalist, most who don't even eat meat, or have real jobs have no comprehension of reality of the real world, lets keep America Strong and continue with the proper F.S. Grazing plans.
Sincerely Don & Chris Lundgren (Ranchers)
