

Julie Anania
Water Program Director, HCCA
julie@hccact.org

1. Instream Flows Matter – The Forest Service should update and maintain instream flow protections for aquatic life.
2. Roads impact stream hydrology and sedimentation. The Forest Service needs to prevent sedimentation to protect stream health.
3. There is a tremendous need to clean up the old mines on the GMUG. Most of our impaired streams start on Forest Service lands.

4. Large roadless areas contribute to clean water.