re: Bog Creek Road project

I am opposed to The Bog Creek road project as proposed by the border patrol.

Those roads were built before anyone realized the environmental damage they would cause, especially to wildlife. Most have even closed for years and they are "growing in" well and the land is "healing". Opening up those roads to motorized traffic will change that and we will be stepping backward, just because people want to drive everywhere. These guys can walk, ride a bike or a horse. That's how we done it!

There is too much to lose and little to gain by opening those roads. This wildlife habitat has been recovering and we need it; especially for the caribou and grizzly bear.

50 years from now, the future generations will look back and see that we had a chance to save that habitat, but we didn't.

Let's keep those roads closed.
