

Hello,

I'm a student of metallurgical engineering who had the opportunity to speak with representatives of the Midas Gold project and a mining industry conference. Their enthusiasm, support, and care for the project was immediate and genuine. It's my hope to bring myself and my family from Utah to the beautiful state of Idaho to help bring the project to success once it's in operation.

In my studies, I've learned extensively about the responsibilities of mine sites to the environment and communities that surround them. We have a strict obligation to ensure their health and wellbeing, and it's a duty I trust Midas to follow through with.

Thanks,

Tristan Lundgreen
