

Concerning the Southern HD's Landscape Restoration Project.

The goal and the list action to be taken is very lofty. The list of tools to accomplish these goals are very dangerous. You completely destroy the confidence of the public with your OHV trail that you call a fire line - we call a line of fire. A long "touring" OHV trail - open vegetation together with combustion engines in one of the driest areas of the area is not smart. The map shows the trail hugging the fence that separates private land from the forest. What a great wilderness experience - flying by backyards and looking into peoples windows.

We would ask the team leaders to adopt the old saying: "They serve who only stand and wait." Nature knows a lot more about restoration than we do and it never includes motorized vehicles.

M. Theresa Fitzgerald

Postmarked 10/10/20

Oct. 9, 2020

Concerning the Southern HD's Landscape Restoration Project.

The goal and the list of action to be taken is very lofty.
The list of tools to accomplish these goals are very dangerous.
You completely destroy the confidence of the public with your OHV trail that you call a fire line - we call a line of fire. A long "touring" OHV trail - open vegetation put together with combustion engines in one of the ~~largest~~ areas of the area is not smart. The map shows the trail hugging the fence that separates private land from the forest. what a great wilderness experience - flying by back yards and looking into peoples windows

We would ask the town leaders to adopt the old saying:

"They serve who only stand and wait" Nature knows a lot more about restoration than we do and it never includes motorized vehicles

M. Theresa Fitzgerald