The site captia is not working so its not allowing people to submit idea for planning around Ward Lake.

Here's my submission if you can add it.

For the first thing is education. There's a lack of education about USFS rules and laws in Ketchikan. They have no idea what a fecal law is or why we have federal laws in the forest service. Hint: for traveling. Hire camp hosts that take conservation seriously and also patrol officers that take conservation seriously. I think a restoration project aground the whole lake would be great and close down signal creek Campground. This will help preserve signal creek for salmon. I believe leaving that creek undisturbed would help it produce more fish. The kiosks are broken down and need to be fixed. The wars lake area is a scenic viewing area. I notice people leave baggies of candy and other items around the lakefor Pele to find. That's littering. If the people don't come back to pick up what they hid it ask becomes litter. I feel the Alaska State parks are better kept and maintained than wasted lake area. It's usually the other way around. The USFS is known for holding up high standards when it comes to conservation and followings all laws and statutes. The forest services isn't about being popular and being cool for local reputation. It's about protecting land, water, and wildlife. If people see leaders in the USFS they will follow. Some of my best memories of my life was talking with park rangers growing up. Roosevelt was a awesome president and created the jobs everybody has. Take pride in your jobs take pride in your country.
