Subject: comments on travel planning for the Shoshone National Forest

Shoshone National Forest.

I would like to express my concerns on what you have control of the fate of. [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]. Over the years I have seen the decrease in the area's that allowed for multiuse. Some areas are restricted by time of year, ie migration etc for a good reason, others just "because" with no just cause. As a native to the area and utilizing our public lands my entire life I would like to say the letter from AMPL and from the WSSA I agree with 100%. Also I would like to add that limiting snowmobiles to April 15th is ridiculous and would fall into the " because " category in my opinion. As the snow logs show there is lots of snow left in April and May. This is the time of year that I take my elderly relatives out for a family day in the snow. The days are longer and generally not below zero, therefore allowing them to enjoy it later in the season.

Please consider all of the relevant facts when making these choices that affect what America is all about.

Thank you,
