

From: arron smith [REDACTED]
Sent: Thursday, December 07, 2017 7:46 AM
To: FS-travel-comments-rocky-mountain-shoshone
Subject: shoshone national forest travel management revised proposed action comments

I'm arron Smith I've been snowmobiling for 40 years, I think the plan needs to remain the same high low elevation and setting dates is futile. Snow changes from year to year. Some one who invests money into a 150000 sled is now going to ride on the dirt or low snow conditions to dangerous and costly.common sense management not strict dates is the answer.

Sent from Yahoo Mail on Android

From: arron smith [REDACTED]
Sent: Thursday, December 07, 2017 7:33 AM
To: FS-travel-comments-rocky-mountain-shoshone
Subject: shoshone national forest travel management changes my name is delaina smith my family and I have snowmobiled in wyo for 30 years the proposed changes to the travel plan make no sense. from year to year the conditions are totally different. some years riding can go till july and others stop much earlier standard dates or high low elevation rules will not work. the plan that is in place should remain.the forest is not being damaged riders use common sense and respect and care for the land. we love the land and the use of the land. THE PROPOSED CHANGES ARE NOT THE ANSWER THEY SHOULD REMAIN THE SAME.

From: arron smith [REDACTED]
Sent: Thursday, December 07, 2017 6:50 AM
To: FS-travel-comments-rocky-mountain-shoshone
Subject: Shoshone national for set travel management revised proposed action comments

im ABBY SMITH a youth snowmobile rider my family has ridden as long as i can remember.the travel plan should NOT BE CHANGED. restricting snowmobiling with set dates or high low elevation rules is not the way. everyone we ride with respects the land,the younger generation will soon b the stuarts of the land. the plan thats in place has been and will be good for the future.