

Stagecoach Motor Inn

Dear Shoshone National Forest,

As both a snowmobiler, and a local business owner of the Stagecoach Motor Inn it is imperative that all available lands remain open to the public for winter travel. The snowmobiling recreation that the National Forest provides is necessary to our survival as business owners in the town of Dubois. There is basically no economics to our town in the winter months without the business the sledders provide. It is certain that without them we would have to shut our businesses down.

I also feel that there is a serious overreach and very unrealistic boundary lines as far as winter habitat is concerned. I am not sure who is responsible for the drawing of these lines, but as a resident of this county for 40 years I know that the boundaries have evolved into something they don't accurately represent. This is also taking up some of the available lands for the public to recreate on.

Sincerely,
