

I suspect gold is underpriced right now. The projects numbers for Proven, Probable and Possible that have been published are encouraging. Perhaps an aspect of the project that will be effective in unfreezing the paralyzing effect of Democratic Party control over the administrative branch, (the 4th branch of gov.) will be the growing use of antimony in the stationary battery that is being produced by AMBRI company. It is a new proven tech that will make renewables feasible for the first time. (without government subsidies or even wokeness.)

If there is 'red' control of politics coming, PPTA could finally be allowed to stick to a schedule to get the FEIS, DROD and ROD completed and start producing truly beneficial contributions to Payette County, Idaho and America.
