

Come on regulators!!! Do your job and lets get this important project licensed. America desperately needs this project to be licensed so the US will have their own supply of antimony.

It shouldn't be necessary for me to expand any further on the importance of this project. But just in case you don't realize the urgency of having our own domestic supply of antimony, just phone me and I will try to explain what life would be like without your cell phone and the many other uses of antimony.
