

I have been closely following Perpetua Resources' plans for several years. The Stibnite Gold Project presents an opportunity to restore an abandoned mine site and provide our nation with the critical minerals we need. I am grateful for the opportunity to comment on their SDEIS.

I've read the economic impacts section of the SDEIS, which estimates that the full compensation for Stibnite Gold Mine jobs would be $67700/year and $96600/year after accounting for health and employee benefits. The document says that this is about the same as the area's prevailing Davis Bacon rates of $20-30/hour. You don't need to be good at math to see that the Stibnite Gold Mine jobs are going to pay a lot more than a Davis Bacon job – even $30/hour is less than $67k/year. Add in $30000 in annual benefits and these are excellent jobs, the kind much needed for local workers to support local families, especially given inflation.

Perpetua Resources wants to invest $1 billion in our state, bring more than 1,000 jobs to rural Idaho and still provide access to Idaho's public lands. This is the type of project our state needs. After reviewing the project for six years, I highly encourage the U.S. Forest Service to move the project forward with the improvements laid out in the SDEIS.
