

As a native Idahoan who grew up in a rural mining town, I recognize the critical importance of mining to the Idaho economy. Stibnite will create a great number of jobs for rural Idahoans in Valley County and inject millions of dollars into our state. In addition to the monetary impact, Stibnite will help clean up legacy environmental issues from irresponsible mining through the responsible mining plan that they have proposed. The Stibnite mine will also become the sole domestic supply for antimony, a critical mineral.

I strongly support the advancement of the Stibnite Gold Project - it is good for our rural communities, good for Idaho, and good for America!
