Comments: i believe the fs employees should be completely pulled out of this area. i think their marauding in this forest will kill it. they are logging it and seelling the wood to china, how does that help america. we get s little for the cut trees and the trees do so much for us in making oxygen for us to breathe and holding water from flooding that we should leave them in place. the allegedly "desired" conditions are nothing more than crap propaganda issued by the propagandists at this agency to make th epubli think this is a decent plan. it is not. it is just about logging the forst for money, burin it up and polluting the air so that american breathe dirty air and die from lung cancer, heart attacks, strokes, asthma, allergies and pneumonia, all of which are cuse by burning up plants/trees. this plan is about moneygrubbing. the fs gets the money for its treaury so it is all about burning it up , logging it up, the employees make out like princes for the work they do. the american publi does not need any of this. we need to let our forets stay beautifully in place and respect them and dignify them as the habita tthey should be for the animals that are geting slaughtered. supposedly we are getting squirrels to live again. they would nt have been extirpated in the first place if the moneygrubbers at the fs had left htis site alone in the first place.

we need to stop this continual marauding of our public land. this land is public trust. it should be preserved and protected instead it is being marauded by the us dept of agribusiness, with its huge spendin gprograms that nobody knows where th emoney goes. the usda needs to be changed. we are all slaves to the usda.

the desired conditions are not natural, they are artificial. and mankind does not make sound decisions. they make decisions based on money. nature knows what it needs to protect itself far better than the fat cat buraeucratgs at the fs. i am definitely opposed to logging 23,000 acres. that is not sustainable at all. to even use that lying word is an affreont to me. burning up 67,m000 acres is another affront to all of america. you are hurting america with that burning and air pollution.this plan sucks. we have liars in govt today, lying to us continually. this comment is for the public record. pleas receipt. jean publiee jeanpublic1@yahoo.com
