Comments: Wayne National Forest Single Track

Rachel:

I am a degreed forester and among those who've ridden the WNF OHV trails and been very disappointed by the wide, smooth routes they've become. I travel regularly in search of single track motorized trails and will use my vacation time and dollars to ride elsewhere. The same choices are already being made by locals who are willing to travel to trails in MI, WV or KY as they are by non-residents who don't even consider Ohio.

Single track trails are ideally suited to motorcycle design, serpentine to create challenge without speed that keeps riders satisfied and on the trail. When properly designed, they follow the contours of the land to be easily maintained and environmentally sustainable. They are used by serious riders who understand the importance of following the rules and volunteering to keep the recreation assets they covet.

I look forward to remaining involved in the WNF Forest Plan Revision process and seeing motorized single track trails become an important part of the forests' recreation opportunities.
