Comments: To Whom it may concern,

I'll keep it short and simple as I realize you folks have a lot on your plate!

I'm an avid motorized/mechanized user. I also enjoy some human powered recreation from time to time as well. Not to mention some piece and quiet! With that being said, in a firm believer that there's a time and place for both, and more than enough land to go around. The quantity of land for motorized is already far less than that of not. These activities are what so many of us live for. We love the land like it's our family and want all to enjoy for many many years to come.

Also, consider the economical repercussions of banishing these types of things. People you love likely make a living from it in one way or another.

Thank your for listening!

Best

Jay
