

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 10/20/2019 8:00:00 AM

First name: Tom

Last name: Hignell MD

Organization:

Title:

Comments: I have been traveling summers to SE Alaska every year since 1990. It is one of the last pristine wildernesses in America and indeed the world. The fishing, wildlife and sight seeing is unparalleled. Salmon populations are at there lowest numbers ever recorded. It would be foolish to further decimate these remaining population's spawning grounds. Maintaining one of the world's last remaining natural wonders is more prudent long term, than permanently destroying their habitat for money. Build these roads and destroy this paradise, and I along with all the people I bring each year that buttress the economy, will stop coming. Saddest if all, my grandchildren will never be able to enjoy what I did.

[See attachment containing an image of a stream and woods next to a mountain]

[Position]

[See attachment containing an image of a stream and woods next to a mountain]

[Position]