Comments: I frequently hike or ride my bike in the National Forest north of Divide, or along Rampart Range Road. It makes me very nervous to hear rampant gunfire, with no idea where it is originating. I personally, and with the help of my hiking groups, have spent hours cleaning up targets and spent ammunition left by thoughtless shooters. On one clean-up effort along Rampart Range, we hauled out 75 30-gal trash bags of brass, shotgun shells and target debris. Before and after photos attached.
