Comments: I have been aware of the capture/slaughter of our wild horses for many years. The cruelty is beyond my wildest imagination. The government has sabotage humane efforts by various groups to help them They have destroyed water tanks etc.

The have at the behest of GREEDY ranchers driven these horses away, the BLM (land management? I think not) have shot them from helicopters, capture and sold them for slaughter etc.

So may I ask why you feel there is a need for mans intervention on native land? Have they been included in this?

I have seen it only worsen over the last few years-the treatment of these majestic animals at the hands of our government for many reasons I imagine. I am well aware of the desire of ranchers for more grazing land. The idea of murdering horses so ranchers can raise cows TO SLAUGHTER for profit is reprehensible.

For the above mentioned reasons I trust the government's intervention in these and any of our wild animals welfare to be suspect and I sincerely doubt if the animal's welfare was even taken into consideration.

Most Sincerely,

Ronald H Freeman
