Comment re: Referring to wild free-roaming horses as [ldquo]feral[rdquo] horses

The Heber Wild Horse Territory Draft Management Plan and associated documents refer to [ldquo]feral[rdquo] horses. The Plan is for the management of wild free-roaming horses, and they should be referred to as such in every aspect of the Plan.

The Wild Free-Roaming Horses and Burros Act of 1971 defines wild free-roaming horses as all unbranded and unclaimed horses on public lands of the United States, and the Draft Plan is for the management of wild free-roaming horses in accordance with the Act.

Places in the Plan where the term [ldquo]feral[rdquo] horse is used:
