Comments: Good afternoon,

I am a forester with over 25 years of experience in the Pacific Northwest and I have dealt with quite a few large fires including the rehabilitation of fire scars.

I am strongly in favor of continuing with the fire affected road system risk reduction project. The attached picture was taken within the footprint of the 2017 Horse Prairie fire. The picture was taken during the spring of 2021, 4 years after the fire. This road system had not been evaluated or treated post fire. The balanced snag was one of dozens of incidents that occur in these types of fire scars. I have seen too many people injured, lose property and in the rare situation lose their life to a fire damaged tree that could have been removed as a risk reduction project. I strongly urge you to continue with your risk reduction project for the greater good of the public and those of us that work in the woods on a daily basis.

Thank you, respectfully. Charley Moyer
