Comments: When I think of Forest (Service Land) I think of silence above the lakes even if there's a breeze a blowin', softness in the trees, and stillness in heart regardless of all the creatures going about their business. Expansion and development force me to think of Whitefish... miles of traffic backed up, sitting thru 3 lights to get through or 20 minutes some days to leave to go anywhere else and realize there will be another jam. Allowing development of Holland Lake will be an error we will all pay for including the 'guests'. My head swims in it, the ugliness produced from over doing it, yet wishing for the beauty of simpler days again where there was a way to life and community survival depends on outside support. *Don't Tread On Me & Save Something For the Natural World:
