Comments: Its really exiting to know about the restoration efforts on this project, as Sierra Club Borderlands coordinator we are specially concern on the current state of staging areas used for machinery (see attachment) for border wall construction. Erosion damage has been and will continue to be very bad and rockfall fill into the canyons as the slopes are very steep.

We wonder also if community could potentially be involved in this effort and this be used as a learning opportunity for local environmentalists.

Is there potential access for the environemental community to monitor the site?

Thanks
