Comments: The project for assisting our forests here is critical. The current winter storms are most welcome but we have to aware that all the moisture isn't going to alleviate the stress our forests have been under for years! In the short range, it will help but it will also create a lot of undergrowth and weeds which will only add to the fire dangers.

Either way, we need to have the Forest Service doing their part. Their part is essential as they are the largest player in these forests.

Please add our encouragement to get all parts of these next steps going.

Let me know if I can assist.
