Comments: Good day, have any of the agencies been looking back starting in 1991 from the eruptio at Mt Pinatubo and the cooling effects recorded during that time? There has been an increase in Stratospheric Aerosol Injections aka SAI's since that time that has developed into the soils of the flora and fauna contributing to a much larger program being sold as climate change, and that program is specifically Solar Radiation Management. The biosphere collapse that has resulted has been from years of nanoparticulate uptake impacting the respiration in the stomata. The pine beetles are merely a symptom and not the root cause of these boreal forests dead or dying. Additionally, there are other materials/components being added into the delivery systems exacerbating and dehydrating the forest fuels even more. There is also a military component to this that can be looked into, if this is something that raises an eyebrow feel free to reach out for further discussion. Additionally, there should be attention given to TN and the recent senate bill going to their house banning geoengineering practices that violate their clean air/water act. Thank you for your time, I have added just a few attachments that can be easily found through a quick search.
