Comments: Hi. I am reaching out in response to your invitation for formal comment. I am attaching two of our research papers suggesting on the whole broad benefits of fuels management and forest restoration for birds, particularly where such practices moderate vegetation density. If you think it would be helpful, we might be able to provide a more focused evaluation if we could get spatial data representing the project boundaries or location. Otherwise, I hope these resources can help inform the comment and response process. Quresh S. Latif
