Comments: Attention Ms. Jackson,

As a person who had been in mining many years (approx 10 years) . I work in maintenance so I get to see the very stringent and goal oriented pace of a mine.. that being said i have been on many jobs that have saved both economy's and environments.. i know there is concern about the environment and I can tell you new modern-day mining is not the same as thos of the past. The bottom line is to protect both environment and the people whom work at the mine. I understand there was bad practices that were followed at this site before and I strongly believe that Midas will both correct these issues and prevent future incidents from happening. By the use of the stringent new mining practices. The mine will be great for the economy by providing world class pay and bennifits for local people and will bring money to schools and infrastructure of the surrounding communities.. so please consider say yes to this project.
