Hello, my name is Ryan Rios. I am an avid hunter and outdoorsman that enjoys the National Forests and all that they have to offer. After reading the RFD I noticed not once was an environmental impact study referenced; what is the scope of impact on the surrounding wildlife at potential well sites? My question is has the National Forest even consulted or requested a wildlife impact study with State or Federal biologist? The whole RFD report is about potential development and does not address environmental/wildlife impact between 2018-2037. Please respond to my comment.
