

Thank you in advance for considering my comments.

The war in Ukraine and the mounting tensions between Russia, China, Europe and the US have demonstrated why no nation should be reliant on foreign hostile powers for the minerals critical to their economic sovereignty and wellbeing.

Currently, China and Russia control about 90% of the world antimony production.

Stibnite offers the opportunity to stand up to those who wish to do America harm.

Furthermore, American mining companies produce far fewer pollutants than the aforementioned counterparts.
