

This is the only way that the cleanup of the Stibnite area will happen. Of course, antimony is a strategic metal and important for national security and domestic economic development.

Earl Bennett