

Attachment 2. Dead Laundry Project, comparison of 2023 Draft DN/FONSI proposal for regeneration and mechanical thinning units with 2021 Draft EA/FONSI units (also those described in 2023 Final EA). Green dots identify units or portions of units which are still proposed for regeneration harvest, black dots identify units or portions of units which are no longer proposed for any treatment, and orange dots identify units or portions of units which have been changed from regeneration harvest to mechanical treatments or which remain mechanical treatment. Orange X's on roads that no longer appear necessary to reconstruct. Red dots along the section of the 737 road which the Forests does not propose to reconstruct, but closely parallels bull trout CH, and part of which could actually benefit from reconstruction. I very likely misinterpreted, omitted, or otherwise did not annotate this map correctly, but this effort or a few hours with substandard equipment shows that the Forests could easily have produced graphics, text, and analysis in the Final EA and Draft DN/FONSI which more-closely resembled a useful and professional effort.
