Comments: I for one would like to see more expansion in the Chugach national forest, the backcountry sports of snowmobiling, snowbaording, and skiing has grown substantially over the past ten years. The money alone spent by snowmobilers in this state is quite impressive not to mention all the employment that comes with it.

To start closing off areas in the Turnagain bowl or anywhere in the Chugach would be the start of a dagger piercing are heart, it may look to seem that we are out there just having fun in the sport we choose but to a lot of us riders its much more then that.
