Comments: Tax payers pay and trust that the Forest Service will manage some of Alaska's treasured wild lands - in this instance Congressionally-designated 2 million-acre Nellie Juan-College Fiord WSA.

Putting profits before people now-by allowing residential timber harvests, expanded motorized uses, manipulation of habitats, mining, and helicopter-assisted skiing and hiking-would harm this beautiful Wilderness Study Area.

It defies your common job description and purpose. Instead, the Forest Service should maintain current protections and recommend to Congress its perpetuation into the future. The Chugach National Forest is a world-class wild area and deserves permanent protection now and far into the future!

Do the job the citizens entrust you with - not corporate interests.
