Comments: As a nation, we have easily seen so many instances where the intrusion of cars, jet-skis, mining, etc. have cause irreversible damage to the ecosystems they were allowed to pollute. Why in the WORLD are we so desperately trying to exploit a place that needs to stay pristine? Do we really need to ruin another Eden? Soon we will run out of places to LIVE!! When solar and wind can provide all the electricity we need, why exploit Alaska, or any place else, anymore, for that matter? Let it alone!
