Comments: Perhaps my voice is relevant in that I will not visit this area before I die, but it should be noted that I value wilderness to a great extent. We have an opportunity to preserve vast tracts of unspoiled areas for plants and animals to continue their evolution with hindrance by humans. Contrary to what man thinks he is not the sole arbiter of the natural world. This area was promised to exist as a study area and is becoming another carnival attraction to be exploited until it is different from what it began as. I urge you to reconsider the drastic actions you propose and leave the original agreement in place until our congress can finalize the wilderness site.
