Comments: The Nellie Juan-College Fiord Wilderness Study Area is a jewel in place for a long, long time. Leave it alone, please. I have visited many areas of Alaska. The tourism industry is big time economic engine. The need for special areas like the Nellie Juan-College Fiord will only grow for human enjoyment. Its value to wild animals, wild plants, clean air and peace and quiet is very high now and will only increase. Please do not change, dilute or in anyway lessen the wild values. Please no roads, mines, timber cutting or other forms of human degradation for profit. Please maintain its status and go on towards formal wilderness status for this wild chunk of Earth. It is such a rare area in our human intense Earth. Please do not be the one to allow it to be piecemeal degraded one bad action at a time. Thanks.
