Comments: Most of Chugach NF is a beautiful, pristine wilderness. It is in danger of being "loved to death" by recreation lovers making in-roads into heretofore hidden areas and leaving their marks: trash, fire, pollution, and destruction of habitat. There is already stress on CNF, especially in Prince William Sound from the large cruise ships, private owned pleasure ships, noisy helicopters and snow machines. Resource destruction continues rampantly through mining and timber removal. Please keep the areas designated wilderness and otherwise in CNF protected from the inevitable pollution (both noise and physical) that threatens to encroach upon it. Make sure regulations are in place requiring visitors to "leave no trace".

Thank you,

Elaine Thomas, Dale Bingham
