Comments: It's called predation. Anyway, I think we really have to pay attention, if we're going to salvage some of these things, we need to bring ADC in and get them working to help us get a handle on things.

As we lose the -- or the understory grows up, and we lose that clear understory, we really get into problems with the fire seasons. Like I said, the grazers and the browsers, they're hurting right now, and if we can get that understory taken care of, we can do a better job of controlling these fires, and it will make it safer for these young people going out and fighting the fires.
