Comments: My comment regarding this or any project involving the new ownership of the Big Bear resorts (Snow Summit and Bear Mountain) is that I am concerned that the Mammoth Mountain ownership group is not primarily concerned with the safety of mountain patrons. As evidence, this past winter ski season (2016), their first as new owners, they eliminated ticket sales limitations, resulting in at times severe overcrowding and dangerous ski conditions - especially for younger, older, and less experienced skiers. Patrons and staff alike were appalled by the overcrowding. If ownership is not concerned about people, I seriously doubt that anything they do will be friendly to the environment, or that any such new features will be made adequately safe for their customers.
