Comments: Hello, great to read about the 4 Forest Restoration Initiative. Appears that a great deal of good work is planned to improve our forest, ecosystem, streams, habitat for animals, etc. I've lived in Az most of my life and have spent considerable time in the forest (hiking, backpacking, fishing, etc) and have raised my children with sound outdoor ethics. One of my biggest concerns in the outdoors is the abuse by ATV's/OHV's. I see this everywhere, from deserts to the mountains. Lack of ethical riding, clear disregard for signage/closures, disregard for trails/roads that are meant/designated for hiking only, etc. Of course, it's only a small percentage of users who can't follow the rules. Aside from some of the road closures that I see, what other initiatives are planned to reduce some of the back country abuse by ATV/OHV users? Thanks, Mark Perkins
