Comments: Open pit mining near a river is a polluting process . This proposed mining project on an old superfund site is detrimental to the health of the entire Salmon river. Further the leaching process will inevitably leach dangerous chemicals into the river. Rafters routinely use river water in their dish cleaning process. This will lead to the poisoning of thousands of river rafting enthusiasts. Because of the very clear and present threat to the river, the animals and people I am against this proposal. Furthermore I urge you to reject this proposal outright.
Thank you
