Comments: My family started coming to Yellow Pine is 1963 and ended up buying a cabin in 1971. The reason for this was Stibnite and Cinnabar. My father had been Chief Geophysicist for Phelps Dodge before he became a professor at the University of Arizona. He fell in love with the area and the mines. My father became friends with Ernie Oberbillig and Fred Bachich because of the connection with mining and the area.

The thought of the Stibnite Road being closed for any reason is deplorable. The history of the area and the interest in Stibnite continues. This Harmonica Festival alone, vans are taking visitors up to see the area. Would they do that if the road was closed?
