I wish to convey my objection to the proposed Midas Gold open pit mine in Stibnite. The potential risks and impact are too great. I have recently read of the damage left behind by Canadian Mining firms such as the Formosa Resource mine in Oregon. This mining operation was bonded but the bonding company went bankrupt and the mine operator also became insolvent with the result being a Super Fund clean up site at the taxpayers expense.

The proposed large scale open pit mine on the edge of the River of No Return Wilderness and the headwaters of the Salmon river, managed by a Canadian Mining firm needs to be halted.

Thank you,

Scott Morgan
