Subject: Atlantic Coast Pipeline Decision Objection

Dear Deputy Chief Glenn Casamassa,

I write in regards the to Record of Decision with objection to the Atlantic Coast Pipeline project being allowed to destroy pristine forest, national habitats and cross scenic trails and mountain waterways through the George Washington and Monongahela forests.

Your life's work surely has been in stewardship of these treasures that need to keep man from disrespecting and destroying nature's gift to our well being.

You must object to lifting the standards of soil and riparian corridor conditions knowing that these standards were put in place to safe guard the health of the forest from destruction that had taken a toll on our land before the conservation movement.

Allowing special permits to destroy the habitats of species in the forests must give any defender of our wilderness sleepless nights.

I ask that you consider not allowing the ACP to cross and scar the Appalachian Trail and then plow down old growth trees with no regard to the ancient history of their existence to guide men with better paths to forge.

Changing the standards for crossing our rivers, impacting our sciences trails and lowering the value of these priceless resources must hurt the soul of any park ranger.

The Virginia Forest Service does not have to bow to power when they have been serving a greater power than anything man made. They are the sentinels of our greatest gift, our parks.

The scenic high value, the natural forest routes, waterways and the forest plan for mitigating those resources should never be lowered. It crushes the work of many who have come before us and who are in service now.

Please be diligent and you will thanked beyond our short time on this planet. You will have fulfilled your duty as a faithful service to the irreplaceable riches you serve by denying any standards be lowered or permits be issued that negates the reason we have dedicated so many years to conservative and preservation of our forests.

Thank you

Angela Lynn
