

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 10/14/2017 12:43:36 AM

First name: Ruhiyyih

Last name: Degeberg

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Forests are a valuable natural resource in the fight against climate change. They are carbon sinks and oxygen generators. As our society inevitably transitions to a renewable based energy infrastructure it is imperative that we not damage valuable natural resources like forest reserves for temporary, short-term gain that benefit very few.