Comments: Don't Allow Fracking in the Ruby Mountains

Dear Ms. Elliott,

The Ruby Mountains are one of the most spectacular landscapes in Nevada. With abundant big game, robust trout fisheries and dense sage grouse habitat, the Rubies are a critical resource for wildlife.

Fracking and drilling for oil and gas would irreparably harm this undisturbed area. The waters that our trout rely on could be poisoned in spills or well failures after fracking. Mule deer habitat would be fragmented, and the deers' ability to safely overwinter would be compromised. Vulnerable sage grouse, known to be negatively affected by oil and gas development, will inch steadily closer to extinction.

I urge you not to permit any leasing for oil and gas in the Ruby Mountains. Non-surface occupancy stipulations do nothing to protect our precious aquatic resources from the harms of fracking. The only way to protect the fragile resources of the Rubies is to forbid leasing on all of these parcels.

I know the Trump administration and Scott Pruitt of the EPA care nothing for the natural world, so it's up to folks like you Ms Elliott to hold the line to protect our precious public lands. My guess is that you wouldn't be in the Forest Service if the natural world wasn't important to you. So as you know we the people need you to have the courage and stop these deplorable two greed driven politicians from destroying our lands.

David Brower said it best:"every environmental win is temporary, and every environmental loss is permanent".

Thank you,

Robert kuhnert
