Comments: Wait a second, working people who live here can hardly cut a stick of firewood to heat their homes, without getting kicked in the balls by the Forest Service. Now, we're gonna allow the destruction of 54,000 acres so rich guys can get richer? There are certain places that just don't need to be screwed with. The Rubys are one of those places. Limited access and untouched land is what makes it so great. Let us hunt, fish, camp in peace there. And no, I'm not some liberal activist. I'm a life long Republican.
