Comments: GMUG,

As a Montrose resident I enjoy using all the public lands and forests for mountain biking mostly. But, I also enjoy hiking and dirt biking more occasionally. I know the motorized enthusiasts are concerned they lose their trails to non-motorized, but I would prefer to see NEW trails built for mountain bikers because the existing multi-use trails were mostly designed by dirt bikers FOR dirt bikers. The gradients are too steep and lead to erosion. Most of the trails are not loops and require road connections. I would love to see non-motorized single track designed and built for mountain bikers and trail runners in mind with gradual gradients and keeping suit with the current trail difficulty ratings that other trail systems are using (green, blue, black, double black). Motorized users want much more difficult trails than a mountain biker can physically ride. Thank you for your consideration.
